

Horsepower and expertise to find the best talent in the crowd

Today's market challenge of finding quick access to the best talent needs capacity, scale and focused control to ensure best talent acquisition results.

Online adverts are generating huge responses. Our experience shows 24 hours can generate >200 candidate applications for certain roles from posting just 1 job online.

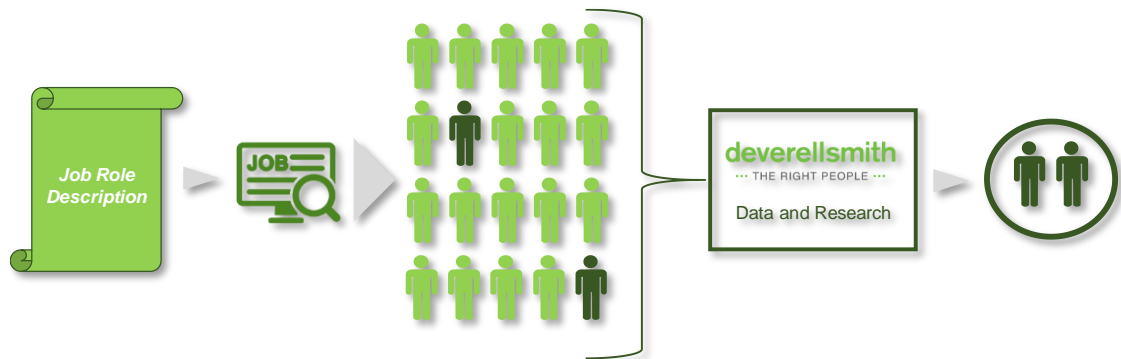

Imagine multiple roles across different locations... In 24 hours this could generate 1000's of applications and if each took 10 minutes to qualify, that would take 100's of working days (or months!) to sift and shortlist.

Have you got the capacity to get to the best talent not just the first response?
